Collection

The Guild usually collects personal information about individuals directly from those individuals or their authorised representative.

The Guild sometimes collects personal information from a third party or from a publicly available source, but only if the individual has consented to such collection or would reasonably expect us to collect their personal information in this way.

The Guild only collects personal information for purposes which are directly related to our functions or activities, and only when it is necessary for or directly related to such purposes.

Use and disclosure

From time to time, The Pharmacy Guild of Australia will send you emails promoting upcoming events, educational opportunities and programs run by the Guild.

The Guild will only use personal information for the purposes for which the Guild collected it - purposes which are directly related to one of its functions or activities.

The Guild does not give personal information about an individual to Government agencies, private sector organisations or anyone else unless one of the following applies:

- the individual has consented
- the individual would reasonably expect, or has been told, that information of that kind is usually passed to those individuals, bodies or agencies
- it is otherwise required or authorised by law
- it will prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to somebody's life or health, or
- it is reasonably necessary for the enforcement of the criminal law or of a law imposing a pecuniary penalty, or for the protection of public revenue.

Data security

The Guild take steps to protect the personal information it holds against loss, unauthorised access, use, modification or disclosure, and against other misuse.

Access

An individual can access the personal information that the Guild holds about them, and can request the Guild to correct the personal information it holds about them.

If listed on one or more of the Guild's media or network email lists an individual can opt out at any time by using the 'unsubscribe' options noted in the Guild's emails.

The Guild's obligations

The Guild is bound by the Privacy Act 1988 (Privacy Act) which legislates the way the Guild collects, stores, provides access to, uses and discloses personal information.
